

CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

OUT-MIGRATION AND CIRCULAR MIGRATION: IMPACTS ON REGIONS AND COMMUNITIES

11-12 September 2017, University of Warsaw, Warsaw, Poland as part of the:

Regional Studies Association Research Network on Migration, Inter-Connectivity and Regional Development (MICaRD)

Monday 11 September 2017

Registration 8:30-9:00

Opening 9:00-9:15

Maciej Duszczyk, Vice-Rector for Research and International Relations, University of Warsaw

Agnieszka Olechnicka, director of the Centre for European Regional and Local Studies EUROREG, University of Warsaw

Tomasz Zarycki, director of the Robert Zajonc Institute for Social Studies (ISS), University of Warsaw

Paweł Kaczmarczyk, director of the Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

Adam Ploszaj, conference organizer, Centre for European Regional and Local Studies EUROREG, University of Warsaw

Session 1 9:15-10:45

Chair/discussant: Paweł Kaczmarczyk, Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

The impact of migration on Polish small towns and big cities

Anne White, University College London, School of Slavonic and East European Studies

Circular migration in the European Union immigration law

Katarzyna Morawska, Gdynia Emigration Museum

Migration in Functional Urban Areas in Poland

Sławomir Kurek, Pedagogical University of Cracow

--- Coffee break ---

Session 2 11:00-12:30

Chair/discussant: Mikołaj Herbst, Centre for European Regional and Local Studies EUROREG, University of Warsaw

(Spät-)Aussiedler from Upper Silesia and their transnational social worlds in the Federal Republic of Germany

Justyna Kijonka, University of Silesia in Katowice

Internal Circular Migration in Modern Russia: back to 1900-th?

Ksenia Averkieva, Evgeny Antonov, Institute of Geography Russian Academy of Sciences

Out- and Circular Migration from a Local and Family Perspective, A case study from south-eastern Poland

Roman Szul, Centre for European Regional and Local Studies EUROREG, University of Warsaw

--- Lunch break ---

Session 3 13:15-14:45

Chair/discussant: Tomasz Zarycki, Robert Zajonc Institute for Social Studies (ISS), University of Warsaw

"A road made by walking." Causes and effects of migrations of Indian peasants in the Mexican la Huasteca Hidalguense region

Zofia Piotrowska-Kretkiewicz, Department of Geography of Development and Spatial Planning, Institute of Regional and Global Studies, Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies, University of Warsaw

Social and economic costs of out-migration in Podlasie Voivodeship

Katarzyna Winiecka, University of Białystok

Kin-state politics stirred by a geopolitical conflict: Hungary's growing activity in post-Euromaidan Transcarpathia, Ukraine

Patrik Tátrai, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Ágnes Erőss, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Katalin Kovály, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

--- Coffee break ---

Session 4 15:00-16:30

Chair/discussant: Gary Bosworth, University of Lincoln

Attachment to peripheral regions: Experiences of young return migrants in Latvia

Zaiga Krisjane, University of Latvia, Department of Human Geography (Paper coauthored with: Elina Apsite-Berina, Maris Berzins, Guido Sechi, Toms Skadins)

Costs and benefits of migration of young representatives of the Polish minority in Lithuania to Poland in the context of identity decisions.

Agata Chutnik, independent researcher

The elderly Polish migration to the United Kingdom in the context of Brexit

Agnieszka Bielewska, SWPS University of Social Sciences and Humanities (Wrocław), Faculty of Psychology

--- Informal dinner ---

Tuesday 12 September 2017

RSA welcome 9:00-9:15

Klara Sobekova, Regional Studies Association

Adam Ploszaj, conference organizer, Centre for European Regional and Local Studies EUROREG, University of Warsaw

Session 5 9:15-10:45

Chair/discussant: Agnieszka Rydzik, University of Lincoln

Migration within Latin American rural communities' livelihood patterns

Bogumiła Lisocka-Jaegermann, Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies, University of Warsaw

The challenges of rural outmigration/de-population: Evidence from England/UK and the Netherlands

Gary Bosworth, University of Lincoln

Tialda Haartsen, Faculty of Spatial Sciences, University of Groningen

Circular or settled entrepreneurs? Development of Ukrainian immigrant entrepreneurship in Poland

Katarzyna Andrejuk, Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Polish Academy of Sciences and Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

--- Coffee break ---

Session 6 11:00-13:00

Chair/discussant: Anne White, University College London School of Slavonic and East European Studies

Migration Strategies of Poles on the EU Labor Market

Anna Janicka, Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

Paweł Kaczmarczyk, Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

"So we try to thrive": Strategies of survival and everyday geopolitics in Western Ukraine

Ágnes Eröss, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Ignacy Józwiak, Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

Katalin Kovály, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Patrik Tátrai, Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

The channels of remittances between Ukraine and Poland: migrants' choice

Iuliia Shapoval, Institute for Economics and Forecasting National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine

Migrations, Collective Memory and Neighborhood. Poles and Jews in Brooklyn and Podkarpacie at the turn of the 21st Century

Anna Sosnowska, American Studies Center, University of Warsaw

--- Light Lunch ---

Paper Presenters

Katarzyna Andrejuk

Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Polish Academy of Sciences and Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw
Assistant Professor at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Polish Academy of Sciences and postdoctoral researcher at the Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw. Sociologist and lawyer, specialising in qualitative research. Within the field of migration studies, she is especially interested in the topics of Europeanisation, educational migration, migrant self-employment, transnational social protection and significance of welfare in the process of migration. She published i.a. in the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, Asian and Pacific Migration Journal, Studia Socjologiczne, Studia Migracyjne-Przegląd Polonijny.

Ksenia Averkieva

Institute of Geography Russian Academy of Sciences

My PHD work was about the new ways of socio-economical development in rural areas loosing the population (by the example of russian Un-Blacksoil zone). Since 2013 I took part in scientific projects about employment in rural areas. In 2016 I finished my research about internal circular migration as a way of salvation of rural unemployment.

Agnieszka Bielewska

SWPS University of Social Sciences and Humanities, Faculty of Psychology, Wrocław, Poland

Agnieszka Bielewska received her PhD in Sociology from Manchester Metropolitan University in 2010 and since then works as an Assistant Professor at SWPS University of Social Sciences and Humanities, Faculty of Psychology in Wrocław, Poland. Her primary academic interests include international migration, nationalism and identity. Her research has been focused on the impact of globalisation on national identity (Poles in the United Kingdom), the connection between the identity and urban space and the highly skilled migrants (foreigners in Poland). Recently she has developed an interests in the situation of senior migrants. She published with Peter Lang, Czech Sociological Review and Ethnicities.

Gary Bosworth

University of Lincoln

One of the co-ordinators of MICaRD, I am interested in the impact of migration patterns upon rural regions. In particular, my past research has examined the entrepreneurial activities of rural in-migrants and the effects of changing populations on rural communities.

Agata Chutnik

Independent researcher

PhD in Humanities with Focus on Social Science, Agata did her PhD research on national identity, migration, national minorities, Lithuania, and Polish-Lithuanian relations. The topics of cross-border migration, national minorities and international relations have always been in the spot of Agata's interests. In particular, she has been investigating and experiencing Lithuania for more than 10 years now. Agata was also granted a scholarship at the Kaunas University, PhD scholarship and student scholarship for good learning results. Having graduated from two 5-year full programs, Agata is a double Master in Russian language and culture, and in European Relations from the University of Łódź. She speaks fluent English, Russian, and Lithuanian, and she has a basic knowledge of German. Polish is Agata's mother tongue.

Ágnes Erőss

Geographical Institute RCAES Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Ágnes Erőss graduated from History and Geography at the Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest, where she is currently a PhD candidate. She is a junior research fellow at the Geographical Institute Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Her main research interest is the analysis of symbolic spaces in urban settings with special regard to culturally-ethnically diverse and historically changing environments, a topic which lies in the intersection of ethnic, urban, political and historical geography. Besides, she has conducted research in migration, especially migratory processes of transboundary Hungarian communities. She has been involved - among others - in SefoNe EU FP6 project, TRANSmig SNSF project and EASTmig IVF V4EaP project.

Anna Janicka

University of Warsaw

Anna Janicka holds a PhD degree in economics, but she also has a mathematical background. She is currently an assistant professor at the Faculty of Economic Sciences at the University of Warsaw. She is also a member of the Centre of Migration Research at the University of Warsaw, where she is the head of the Economics of Migration Research Unit and has participated in many research activities and grants. Her research interests include topics in the supply-side economics of migration, especially microeconomic econometric modeling. She has also published on the causes and consequences of labor migration for Poland. Her additional interests include demography and game theory.

Ignacy Józwiak

Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

Ignacy Józwiak is an anthropologist and a researcher at the Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw. His research interests cover the issues of ethnicity, state borders and migration processes in Central Europe. He has participated in a few research projects, and authored or coauthored articles, book chapters and research reports in these fields.

Paweł Kaczmarczyk

Centre of Migration Research, University of Warsaw

Paweł Kaczmarczyk: director of the Centre of Migration Research at the University of Warsaw and an assistant professor at the Faculty of Economic Sciences, University of Warsaw; IZA fellow, TFMI (Transcontinental Forum on Migration and Integration) fellow, and SOPEMI correspondent for Poland at OECD; in 2008-2011 a member of the Board of Strategic Advisers to the Prime Minister of Poland (responsible for demography, migration and labour market related issues). His main research areas include causes and consequences of labour migration (with special attention paid to analysis of migration processes in CEE countries), highly skilled mobility, methodology of migration research, labour economics, population economics and demography, international economics and migration policy. Author of many publications concerning those areas.

Justyna Kijonka

University of Silesia in Katowice

Dr Justyna Kijonka works at the Institute of Sociology of the University of Silesia in Katowice. She studied sociology, cultural studies, psychology, political studies and Polish studies at the University of Silesia in Katowice and sociology and cultural communication at the University of Vienna. She obtained her PhD in Sociology at the University of Social Sciences and Humanities in Warsaw (SWPS). In 2012, she received a research scholarship from the Deutsches Polen Institut in Darmstadt. From October 2014 to July 2015, she was a DAAD fellow postdoctoral researcher in the Department of Sociology of Goethe University in Frankfurt. Her research interests include the problems of national and ethnic identity, collective memory, migration and German-Polish relations.

Katalin Kovály

Geographical Institute, Research Centre for Astronomy and Earth Sciences, Hungarian Academy of Sciences

Katalin Kovály is a junior research fellow at the Geographical Institute, at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. She was born in Ukraine, in Transcarpathia, in 1987. She received the qualification of MSc. Geographer at Uzhhorod National University, (Ukraine) in 2011. Between 2011-2014 she was a PhD student at Geoscience Doctoral School of Eötvös Loránd University (Budapest), where she got the absolutorium in August, 2014 and where she is a PhD candidate currently. Her current research interests include the ethnic and economic geography of Ukraine and Transcarpathia. She also investigate the Ukrainian – Hungarian border region. During her PhD studies she has participated in two international scholarship programs which were connected with her research interest: (1) 2013 (6 month): Visiting fellow, Institute of Geography, National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine, Kyiv, Campus Hungary Scholarship Program. Research topic: Foreign direct investments in different regions of Ukraine; (2) 2014 (10 month): Visiting fellow, Faculty of Science, Charles University in Prague, Czech Republic, Visegrad Scholarship Program. Research topic: Peculiarities of the Ukrainian labour migration to the Czech Republic and its impact on the economy of Ukraine and also social capital among Ukrainian migrant entrepreneurs in the Czech Republic.

Zaiga Krišjāne

University of Latvia, Department of Human Geography

Zaiga Krišjāne is a full professor of Human Geography at the Faculty of Geography and Earth Sciences, University of Latvia, has extensive research experience at national and EU level. Her scientific interests lie in population geography, migration and urban development.

Sławomir Kurek

Pedagogical University of Cracow

Sławomir Kurek - Associate Professor at Pedagogical University of Cracow, Institute of Geography, Department of Socio-Economic Geography. Research interests: population geography, demography with particular focus on population ageing, suburbanisation and spatial patterns of demographic changes associated with second demographic transition. Author of numerous articles published in prestigious journals including Population, Space and Place; Geografiska Annaler: Series B, Human Geography; Moravian Geographical Reports; Geographia Polonica; Bulletin of Geography- Socio-economic series.

Bogumiła Lisocka-Jaegermann

Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies; University of Warsaw

Bogumiła Lisocka-Jaegermann, Ph.D, hab., geographer with expertise in development studies and Latin American studies; associate professor in the Institute of Regional and Global Studies, Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies; University of Warsaw; her main research interests concern local development in Latin American context and migratory movements in the region; experience in field studies in Latin American countries like Mexico, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, Cuba, Argentina and Venezuela; author of several texts concerning migration in Latin American context dealing with cultural aspects of migratory movements, gender dimension of migration, the impact of migration on local, regional and national identities, transnationality within Latin American studies on migration, a considerable part of those published in the series, "Migration and Society" [' Migracje i społeczeństwo'] edited by the Institute of History of the Polish Academy of Science.

Katarzyna A. Morawska

Gdynia Emigration Museum

Katarzyna A. Morawska holds a doctoral degree in law from Gdańsk University, Faculty of Law and Administration. Her PhD thesis was of an interdisciplinary character, being devoted to circular migration in the European Union. She completed her post-graduate studies in European Studies at Gdańsk University, as well as her MA studies in European Studies at the Institute for European Studies in Brussels and in International Relations at Łódź International Studies Academy. She participated in the Summer School on the "European Union Law and Policy on Immigration and Asylum" organized in the Université Libre de Bruxelles by the Academic Network for Legal Studies on Immigration and Asylum in Europe. Since 2010 she has been working as a researcher and academic lecturer at several Universities (e.g. Sopot University of Applied Science, WSB University in Gdańsk, Pomeranian Academy in Starogard Gdański). Since 2016 she has held the function of a research officer in the Gdynia Emigration Museum. Over the last few years the area of her research has focused mainly on the European immigration law and policy. She currently works on the implementation of the EU immigration law into Polish legal system. In her free time, she jogs and works out at the gym.

Zofia Piotrowska-Kretkiewicz

Department of Geography of Development and Spatial Planning, Institute of Regional and Global Studies, Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies

M.Sc. in Chemistry (Warsaw University of Technology); Master of Science in Business, (Warsaw University of Technology Business School); postgraduate course in Latin American Studies Centre (CESLA); 2015 to present - doctoral student at the Faculty of Geography and Regional Studies (University of Warsaw), preparing a doctoral dissertation on local food systems of traditional Indian communities in the Mexican Huasteca Hidalguense region. Since December 1999 has been carrying out the multidisciplinary investigations in the Indian villages of the Huazalingo municipality, consisting of prolonged periods of fieldwork and short-term visits. Cooperation with Mexican Center for Research and Higher Studies in Social Anthropology (CIESAS); since 2000 participating as a speaker in the conference series on the Huasteca (Encuentros de Investigadores de la Huasteca) organized by CIESAS, that gathers the researchers working in the Huasteca region, author of publications on the region, translator of anthropological books from English into Spanish.

Iuliia Shapoval

Institute for Economics and Forecasting National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine

Work experience: 03/11/2014 – Present: junior scientific researcher in the department of monetary relations, Institute for Economics and Forecasting National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine. Duties: participation in the development of research plans and programs; collection and analysis of economic data, domestic and foreign experience concerning monetary issues; examination of draft laws and regulations under preparation by the legislative and executive authorities of Ukraine: the Verkhovna Rada of Ukraine (the Committee on Financial Policy and Banking), Ministry of Finance of Ukraine, National Bank of Ukraine and others; conducting researches and formulating practical recommendations for the use of their results. 08/10/2012–31/05/2013: trainee in the department of corporate management and external audit, Alfa-bank. Duties: participation in preparing committee meetings (formalization and maintenance the documents that contained decisions of committee meetings). University degrees: 01/11/2013 – 30/06/2017: Postgraduate training program in «money, finance and credit», Institute for Economics and Forecasting National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine. Thesis title: «The impact of international capital flows on the mechanism of money supply formation». 03/09/2012–28/06/2013: Master in banking, Kyiv National Economic University named after Vadym Hetman. 01/09/2008–31/08/2012: Bachelor in Finance and Credit with English language, Kyiv National Economic University named after Vadym Hetman.

Anna Sosnowska

American Studies Center, University of Warsaw

Anna Sosnowska is a sociologist and an associate professor at the American Studies Center, University of Warsaw. She specializes in historical sociology, sociology of development, urban and migration studies. Her publications include Explaining Economic Backwardness. Postwar Polish Historians on Eastern Europe, Budapest: CEU Press (forthcoming). In her recently published book Polski Greenpoint a Nowy Jork. Gentryfikacja, stosunki etniczne i imigrancki rynek pracy na przełomie XX i XXI wieku [Polish Greenpoint and New York City. Gentrification, Ethnoracial Relations and Immigrant Labor Market At the Turn of the 21st Century], Warszawa: Scholar (2016) she analyzed Polish immigrants' position on the New York City labor market, attitudes toward the city's diverse population and attitude toward changes in Brooklyn's Little Poland.

Roman Szul

University of Warsaw, Centre for European Regional and Local Studies

Professor at the University of Warsaw, specialized in international economy and politics, with special respect of the issue of dynamics of civilisations well as in theory and practice of nationalism, ethno-regionalism and language politics.

Patrik Tátrai

Geographical Institute RCAES Hungarian Academy of Sciences

PhD, senior research fellow in Geographical Institute RCAES Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Graduated from Geography at Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest. He has been working in the Geographical Institute HAS since 2004. His research interests concern ethno-demographic dynamics in Central and Eastern Europe, issues of ethnic identification in multiethnic settings, migration studies, kin-state politics and critical cartography. He carried out several field works in Hungary and its neighbourhood (Slovakia, Ukraine, Romania, Serbia).

Anne White

University College London School of Slavonic and East European Studies

Anne White is a sociologist/social anthropologist with two parallel and interlocking research interests: social trends in Central and Eastern Europe, especially Poland, and contemporary migration, including migration theory. She is Professor of Polish Studies and Social and Political Science at UCL SSEES. She has published four research monographs, of which the most recent (2nd edition, 2017) is Polish Families and Migration since EU Accession (Bristol: Policy Press). Her paper at the MICaRD conference is based on two of her chapters for a new book, The Impact of Migration on Poland: Mobility and Social Change, co-authored with Izabela Grabowska, Paweł Kaczmarczyk and Krystyna Slany. The book offers a fresh way of understanding how migration influences sending countries.

Katarzyna Winiecka

University of Białystok

Katarzyna Winiecka - sociologist, doctor of social sciences, assistant professor at the Department of Sociology of Education and Social Gerontology at the Faculty of Pedagogy and Psychology of the University of Białystok, who is interested in research in the migration of Poles, especially in process of social adaptation to new social environmental conditions, specializing in qualitative research, participant of research projects in Poland and abroad, member of the Polish Sociological Association, social skills trainer specializing in intercultural education and communication.

Conference venue

- University of Warsaw, building of the Faculty of Modern Languages, room 2.014.
- Street address: Dobra 55, Warszawa, Poland
- Interactive map:
<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Dobra+55,+Warszawa,+Poland/@52.241991,21.0218753,17z/data=!3m1!4b1!4m5!3m4!1s0x471ecc5c150f0ecb:0xfab09f938cf9ceec!8m2!3d52.241991!4d21.024064>

Non-speaker registration

- A limited number of places is available for non-speaker participants.
- Participation in conference is free – but all participants must register at:
<https://goo.gl/forms/8Z6BFjd2gg9fvpUD3>

Further information

- For further information on the conference, please visit www.euroreg.uw.edu.pl/en/conferences/micard-2017 or send an email to Adam Ploszaj: a.ploszaj@uw.edu.pl
- For information on the MICaRD network go to: www.regionalstudies.org/networks/network/migration-inter-connectivity-and-regional-development-micard
- For information on the Regional Studies Association go to: www.regionalstudies.org

Event organisers

- The Regional Studies Association Research Network on: Migration, Inter-Connectivity and Regional Development (MICaRD):
 - Dr Gary Bosworth, School of Geography, University of Lincoln, UK.
 - Dr Philomena De Lima, University of the Highlands and Islands, UK.
 - Dr Ruth McAreavey, Newcastle University, UK.
 - Dr Agnieszka Rydzik, Lincoln International Business School, University of Lincoln, UK.
 - Dr Danica Šantić, Faculty of Geography, University of Belgrade, Serbia.
- Centre for European Regional and Local Studies, University of Warsaw, Poland.
 - Dr hab. Agnieszka Olechnicka
 - Dr Adam Ploszaj
- Centre for Migration Research, University of Warsaw, Poland.
 - Dr Marta Anacka
 - Dr hab. Paweł Kaczmarczyk
 - Prof. Stefan Markowski
- Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw, Poland.
 - Dr Anna Domaradzka-Widła
 - Dr hab. Tomasz Zarycki

NETWORK ORGANISERS

LOCAL ORGANISERS

PARTNER INSTITUTIONS

